HIGGINS PAID HIS RENT

He Shot His Landlady Then Killed

DIDN'T LIKE TO GO TO JAIL

When He Heard the Police Patrol Wagon Coming After Him He Put a Ball Into His Worthless Head.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—J. J. Higgins, an electrician, shot and killed Mrs. Kate McLaughlin, his landlady and afterwards he shot himself through the head, dying almost instantly. Higgins had roomed at Mrs. McLaughlin's house for some time and, falling behind in his rent, had been threatened with ejection.

To-night he called the woman into a bed room and fired several shots into her body. After killing the woman Higgins was standing on the sidewalk in front of the place when he heard the patrol wagon coming, and rather than be arrested he sent a bullet through his head.

IT WAS A PLEASANT DAY. The Gallatin Teachers Having a Good Mosting.

BOREMAN, Nov. 15.—The second day's work of the Gallatin County Teachers' institute began at 9 a. m. to-day in the High school building, and the secsions were well attended throughout the day, not only by the teachers themselves but by large numbers of interested listeners from the city

The programme began with a song by the institute followed by a prayer from Rev. Mr. Liewellyn, after which there were "quotations" from the teachers. The pro-gramme for the day was as follows: Methods in sketching. gramme for the day was as follows:

Mrs. Marshall in her talk upon sketching so interested the teachers that a class was formed which will meet at the east side school every Saturday afternoon.

side school every Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Steere in his talk gave American history from colonial times up to the time of the revolutionary war bringing forth many interesting facts in history, and amongst other suggestions made, he would discourage the memorising of too many dates by the young pupil.

Miss Alexander's remarks were confined to the presentation of the fifth and aixth grade grammer work and aboved a need to the presentation of the fifth and sixth grade grammer work and showed a very thorough knowledge of her subject.

Professor Phelps discussed the three movements of writing and emphasized the necessity of having good materials, especially the best of ink and was followed by an able talk on penmanship by Paul J. Davies of the Three Forks school. In the afternoon J. W. Johnston on structural geography, gave an outline of the con-tinent and physical features in reference to the civilising influences of the different climates and surroundings of various sec-tions of the globe, and was followed by Professor Harmon who treated de-nominate numbers from an analytical standpoint and made the usually dry sub-ject of figures, exceedingly interesting. C. H. Warren in a few pleasing and able remarks on "Fractions" dwelt upon the great importance of this branch of arith-

great importance of this branch of arithmetic. The last on the programme for the day session was Professor Luther Foster of the Agricultural Experiment station, who spoke on "Botany for the Country School," his remarks being illustrated by the use of seeds, plants and the aid of microscopes. Professor Foster's clear and thorough manner of handling this subject was enjoyed by every one this subject, was enjoyed by every one

The evening session at the opera house drew a good audience to listen to the most excellent address of State Superintendent Steere on "Reciprocal Charity, as Illustrated in the Life of Geo. W. Childs," which ended one of the most interesting and instructive day's sessions ever held by the Teachers' Institute of this county.

General Butler Honored.

GREAT FALLS, Nov. 16.—Robert M. Greig and Miss Frances May Hewitt, both of Anaconda, were married yesterday at the Presbyterian manse, Rev. Robert M.

Yesterday afternoon T. E. Butler of the STANDARD at Butte, was called to the parors of the Park hotel where, instead of a basiness engagement, as he expected, he was taken completely by surprise in confronting the rank and flie of the Great Falls Flambeau club who, through their president, G. H. Goodrich, presented him with an elegantly mounted gold headed cane bearing the following inscription neatly engraved: "Presented to Gen. T. E. Butler, Great Falls Flambeau club, 1894."

The general was taken completely by surprise, but fully appreciated the evidence of good will shown in being presented with such a handsome rememberance of the recent trip, and accepted the same with a characteristic speech amidst the Tin deafening cheers of the club. He is justly now.

proud of his beautiful gift. Hon. C. M. Webster, Mayor Geisthorne and others were present and made brief remarks.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

New York, Nov. 16—Speculation in stocks to-day was unsettled with the tendency in the main teward lower figures. The grangers, however, did not share in the general deprecalen to any appreciable extent. The entire market was quister than of late and there were periods of the chartest additions.

CHAMPAGNE CORKS.

Why Very Fow of Them Are Made in the

"When you pull a champagne cork the anticipation of the sparkling beverage gives you but little time to consider just how important the cork is," said a prominent cork manufacturer to a Pittsburg Dispatch man. "A champagne cork is the most expensive made. You will probably be surprised when I tell you they cost from 7 to 10 cents each. To keep champagne in good condition the cork must be as near perfect as possible. So it is that they are cut by hand from the best quality of Catalonia wood. The utmost care is taken in the selection of the wood, and even after the corks are cut another sorting process is gone through. Then, by a chemical process, the corks are tested to see if they can be relied upon to do the particular work of tightly fastening champagne bottles. The manufacturer must learn for a certainty whether the corks are perfect or not before they are permitted to be put upon the market. Of course you find some bad corks in cham-pagne bottles, but their defects are either passed over through carelessness or de-velop after the bottle is corked. You will now appreciate that 7 or 10 cents is not such a very exorbitant figure as it would made in America. The corks could be made here just as well as in Europe, but at much less profit. As the process of manufacture is mostly by hand, the differ-ence in the price of labor would reduce the manufacturer's profit to a small margin. We pay cutters on this side from $2.25 to $2.50 a day, as against 60 cents to

"Why don't Americans grow cork? Because they are too energetic, too progressive. You could grow just as fine corkwood in California, Florida, North Carolina and other states as they have on the other side. But where will you find an American or a American family willing to wait 50 years before they begin to realize on their investment? They will not do it. They want to see the profit coming in immediately. You see, you have to wait 30 years for a cork tree to grow before you get the first stripping. This is rough, coarse and wholly unfit for use. "Then the corkgrower has to wait another eight or ten years before he can strip again. This time he gets a cork which is called a secondary and is almost as unfit for manufacture. For another eight or ten years the patient corkgrower folds his arms until he gets his third crop. Not until this crop is obtained does he have a merchantable article. Where is the American investor who would wait so long for a return upon his money?"
